

FRAPIN CUVÉE 1888

Grande Champagne | Premier Cru De Cognac

Frapin Cuvée 1888 Premier Grand Cru Cognac is composed of an assemblage of old Cuvées matured at the Paradis storehouse. These cognacs have been ageing for many generations - some were distilled even before 1888 - and are a testimony to the mastery of the late and great Monsieur Pierre Frapin. Offered in a limited series of 1888 bottles, this magnificent cognac is presented in an engraved crystal decanter, encircled by a decorative spiral in 24-carat gold. The stunning decanter preserves the secret of a rare vintage and it was manufactured by the famous Cristalleries Royales de Champagne.

Tasting notes

Color

Dark amber with some light orange reflections

Aroma

Its highly complex aromas show notes of dried fruit, walnuts and hazelnuts, raisins and prune with candied orange and enchanting balsamic, roasted, toasty notes of cocoa and tonka beans and coffee.

Taste

The heart is a sublime harmony of vine flowers with a splash of everlasting flowers mingling with the sweetness of linden on a background of pepper, sweet spice, summer flower honey and vanilla, leather and precious woods.

Finish

Impressively intense, with notes of summer flowers, honey and vanilla, leather and woody notes

About the distillery Frapin Cuvée 1888 honours company founder Pierre Frapin, who in 1888 selected the cuvee that won a Gold Medal at the World Fair in Paris. The Gold Medal is still on display and proudly so, in the Eiffel Storehouse of our Chateau. Some of the cognacs used in the assemblage pre-date 1888, and a high proportion of the little-seen Folle Blanche grape is used.
