Tasting notes

Aroma

A chocolaty nose, flashes of black cherry, almond and dried fruits as a prelude to other fragrances running riot: maple syrup, fruits-of-the-forest and mentholated echoes.

Taste

Hints of tobacco, vanilla and liquorice all come to the fore.

About Independent Bottler Samaroli: Samaroli is probably Italy's most renowned independent bottler, considered a visionary by most. Impeccable taste and an eye for aesthetics have given numerous of his bottlings a worthy place in the pantheon of whisky and rum giants. Today the production is under Antonio Bleve's direction, who has worked with Samaroli for many years and shares the passion and philosophy of the house. Antonio Bleve continues his quest for exceptional casks, relying on the brand's historical relationships and new interactions, making their latest bottlings increasingly in demand.
